

DO YOU HAVE A TEEN OR YOUNG ADULT IN YOUR FAMILY WITH A DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITY?

The Teen & Young Adult Resource Group is here to help!

South Sound Parent to Parent is working with the Thurston Transition Partnership and other agencies in our community to help families of students age 14 to 21 with developmental disabilities .

The goal of this group is to educate families on services, supports and opportunities available to their son/daughter as they prepare for adulthood.

This group will connect families with the resource providers in a personal setting where they can ask questions and develop relationships.

And most importantly, families will be able to meet other families, share ideas, suggestions and concerns.

- Meet other families
- Help prepare your student for the future
- Learn about adult services and supports
- Start planning for the “school to work” transition
- Have your questions answered by the people who know

The Teen & Young Adult Resource Group meets at South Sound Parent to Parent on the 3rd Thursday of each month from 6:30–8:00 pm
